Chaperones: We will need a few chaperones who are able to stay with us for the festival. If you are able to assist in this way, please let Julie know.

What to expect: The Maryland Young Voices Festival is a wonderful opportunity for our singers to join their voices with other young musicians from across the state. We will rehearse and perform as one large combined choir, as well as individually. The day also includes time to socialize and build relationships within our choir and with new friends. The concert is always so exciting - not to be missed! Parents are responsible for taking their child home after the concert.
